GENERAL NOTICES.

No matter how advanced in life,
Good teeth in either man or wife
Or maid, are a rich prize;
And those who would the gift preserve,
From SOZODONT won't swerve,
Should they at all be wise. TTS

My son has been afflicted with nasal catarrh since quite young. I was induced to try Ely's Cream Balm, and before he had used one bottle that disagreeable catarrhal smell had all left him. He appears as well as anyone. It is the best catarrh remedy in the market.—J. C. Olmstead, Arcola, Ill.

Mr. A. Nichols suffered from catarrh for years. He purchased a bottle of Ely's Cream Balm from us. He is now almost cured, and says you cannot recommend it too highly.—Evers Bros., Druggists, Independence, Iowa. MWF

Pullman Tourist Car Excursions.—Select excursions via the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad (Santa Fe route), under management of salaried railroad employes leave Sacramento EVERY THURSDAY for all Eastern points. Berths furnished through to Chicago. Rates same as from San Francisco. Baggage checked through to destination. G. W. RALSTON, agent, 923 Second street, Sacramento, Cal. m3-1mMWF

Advice to Mothers.—Mrs. Winslow's SOOTHING SYRUP should always be used when children are cutting teeth. It relieves the little sufferer at once; it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as "bright as a button." It is very pleasant to taste. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best-known remedy for diarrhea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Twenty-five cents a bottle. MWFly

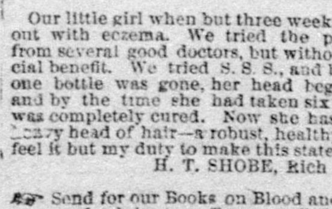
OF WILD CHERRY



Our little girl when but three weeks old broke out with eczema. We tried the prescription from several good doctors, but without any special benefit. We tried S. S. S., and by the time one bottle was gone, her head began to heal, and by the time she had taken six bottles she was completely cured. Now she has a full and heavy head of hair—a robust, healthy child. I feel it but my duty to make this statement.

NATIONAL CONVENTION

Of the Ancient Order of Foresters—Important Action.

MINNEAPOLIS, August 12th.—The National Convention of the Ancient Order of Foresters opens in this city to-morrow. Between 600 and 700 delegates will be present.

The California delegation was the first to arrive. The party was unfortunate in losing one of its members, who died while en route, just before reaching Denver.

To-day was devoted to a picnic at Spring Park. Judging from present indications there seems not the slightest doubt but that the A. O. F. in this country will be a distinct organization after to-morrow.

Exactly how the matter will come up in the convention is not settled. It is expected that it will take the form of a resolution to-morrow morning. Rather new light is thrown upon the situation by Chief Ranger-elect Wilson Murray. In speaking of the subject this morning that gentleman said: "It is not so much the color-line that will split the American organization away from the English order as the fact that the English High Court has tried to coerce and has broken faith with us."

There seems to be a difference of opinion as to what name the new organization shall take. Some favor the name "American Ancient Order of Foresters," while others favor the title, "Ancient Order of Foresters of America."

THE FIELD OF HONOR.

A Bloodless Duel Fought Between Two Georgians in Alabama.

ATLANTA (Ga.), August 12th.—Patrick Calhoun, a prominent railroad attorney and a grandson of John C. Calhoun, fought a duel Saturday with J. D. Williamson, President of the Chattanooga, Rome and Columbus Railroad, at Hope Bluff on the Coosa river. No one was hurt, although several shots were exchanged. Williamson fired five times and Calhoun only once. Then a compromise was patched up. The quarrel originated in statements made before the Legislative Committee.

Governor Gray, of Alabama, announces that he will ask for the extradition of the duelists Calhoun and Williamson, and Governor Gordon says he will honor the requisition. It is probable that the next appearance of the duelists will be in Court.

OCEAN TRAFFIC.

English Vessels Coming to Engage in the West India Trade.

NEW YORK, August 12th.—The arrival in this port within the last four days of three big English steamers has brought out the information that a fleet of some fifteen large vessels is on its way across the Atlantic to this port. Their coming is the result of a hurried cable dispatch from the English agents in this city giving accounts of the brisk state of trade between New York and West Indian ports. Within the last month there has been every indication that freights to West Indian ports were about to enjoy a boom. This was the case for a few weeks during the month of May. But the boom which appears to be near at hand promises to outdo anything of like character in the last twenty years.

American shippers who have been kept well informed have been quietly getting in hand all the vessels possible, but these in every instance have consisted of schooners and small sailing vessels. If the matter could have been kept from the English agents long enough to secure half a dozen steamship charters there was in prospect a rich run of business for more than one American house.

The British vessels, by reason of their immense carrying capacity, can each accommodate as much freight as would require half a dozen or more schooners to handle. All the available British vessels in American ports have been ordered to proceed to New York.

FRUIT SALES.

California Products are Reaching Eastern Markets in Good Order.

NEW YORK, August 12th.—The California Fruit Union auctioned five carloads of fruit to-day, at the following prices: Bartlett pears, $2 45 to $1 15; Golden Drop plums, $1 20 to $1; Black Prince grapes, $1 30 to $1; peaches, $1 55; Gross prunes, $1 50 to $1 15; German prunes, $1 35 to $1 20; Hungarian prunes, $1 70 to $1 25. The pears mostly were very ripe with some decay. Plums and prunes were in good order. Only a few carloads will arrive this week.

CHICAGO, August 12th.—The Earl Fruit Company sold five carloads of California fruit to-day. Bartlett pears sold at $1 50@2 25; Beurre Hardy, $1@1 10; Tokay grapes, $2 70@3 60 per double crate; Muscat, $2 20@3 30; peaches, $1 10@1 50. The market is again overloaded, sixteen carloads more being sold to-day.

CHICAGO, August 12th.—Porter Bros. & Co., sold nine carloads: Bartlett pears, $1 30@2 25; peaches, $1 10@2; Muscat grapes, $1 45@2 65; Tokay grapes, $1 70@2; plums, 95c@$1 15.

JUSTICE IN KENTUCKY.

Despoilers of Virtue and Murderers of Innocence Shot to Death.

CATLETTSBURG (Ky.), August 12th.—A widow named Gillis and her two daughters, nearly grown, living in McDowell county, were found dead by some neighbors last Friday.

They had been criminally assaulted and then murdered. The Hollis brothers were suspected and a vigilance committee was organized to punish them.

Captain Bow, who came down the Big Sandy from Pikeville this morning, reports that the Hollis brothers were captured by the committee, hung up by the heels to a limb of a tree and then shot to death.

Montana's Convention.

HELENA, August 12th.—The Committee on Suffrage reported back without recommendation the proposition to submit woman suffrage as a separate proposition. Warren moved to suspend the rules and adopt the resolution as a separate proposition.

The motion was lost on the vote and thus was the question postponed.

The substitute to submit the location of the Capital until after admission in the 1892 to a vote of the people was amended by Luce to read that the temporary Capital remain until such election takes place. Carried. Thus Helena remains the Capital until the election of 1892.

Destructive Fires in Idaho.

BOISE CITY, August 12th.—Tom Healy's sawmill and 150,000 feet of lumber, twenty-five miles north of here, was burned yesterday morning. It was owing to the carelessness of some of the mill hands. The loss is not less than $25,000 and no insurance.

The lumber from this mill all came to Boise City and the large amount of building at this time will be delayed until lumber can be procured from other sources.

The forest fires in the mountains are still burning and will only be arrested by heavy rains.

Hanged Himself in Prison.

LAWRENCE (Mass.), August 12th.—Harry Sullivan, aged 34, was arrested at noon today, charged with having caused the death of his two-weeks old baby. His wife made the complaint, and the officers, on going to the house, found the body of a male infant perfectly black and marks of scalds on its face and breast and legs.

A medical examination was held, but they could not say whether death was caused by the scalds or not. While the autopsy was being held Sullivan banged himself in his cell.

Sugar Trusts.

NEW YORK, August 12th.—Receiver W. Gray, of the North River Sugar Refining Company, has applied to Judge Ingraham of the Supreme Court for an order to restrain the Sugar Refineries Company, or Sugar Trust, from declaring or paying further dividends. On the report of the news at the Stock Exchange, sugar refineries stock fell from $110 to $103⅞.

Newsboys on a Strike.

The few boys who purchased at the advanced rates had their papers destroyed by the young strikers.

LATER—The newsboys won their fight. The papers acceded to their terms.

WASHINGTON CULLINGS.

Failure of Christian Missionaries to Convert the Chinese.

AGRICULTURAL EXPERIMENTS.

Report of the Commander of the Rush is Not to be Made Public at Present.

[SPECIAL DISPATCHES TO THE RECORD-UNION.]

USELESS WORK.

The Christian Missions in China are a Complete Failure.

WASHINGTON, August 12th.—Lieutenant Wood of the United States Navy has been much in China and the East, and publicly speaks as follows of the American missionaries in China and Corea: "It is not extravagant to say that the work of the missionaries in China and Corea has been absolutely without any result, except to hold them up to the ridicule of the natives. It has been before stated, and I concur in the belief, that there is not a Chinese convert to Christianity of sound mind to-day within the entire extent of China.

"The converts we hear of in this country are merely menials employed about quarters of missionaries, who, for a salary of $4 per month, become converts. But when they are discharged there is no further evidence of their change of mind. The missionaries do not mix with the natives to any considerable extent, and many of their meetings are not only conducted in English, but with the missionaries themselves as audiences.

"As for a nobleman of Corea or a mandarin of China ever acknowledging the Christian faith, such a thing was never heard of. The missionaries are looked upon about as is the Salvation Army in America, only to a degree ten times as great. The Chinaman, for instance, has a respect for his language which amounts to reverence. Even a stray piece of paper covered with Chinese characters would be picked up by them and burned.

"You will understand with what feelings they regard the translation of the Bible the missionaries have prepared for them when you know that this is a lingo which stands in the same relation to the classical language of the country, which is used in court, and is the official language all over that country, that an obscure negro dialect of Louisiana bears to classical English. Only educated Chinese are able to use this language.

"They all have the same respect for it, and it is in that the precepts of Confucius are given to the people. When the missionaries located in Foo Chow they learned the language of that locality, and, of course, could use no other, either in speech or to write, in making a translation. There is a gradual change in the lingoes of China, which is seen distinctly in a distance of fifty miles, but the tongue of the mandarins is universally used by the educated and reverenced by everyone."

SUNSET COX'S LATEST.

He Brings from Yellowstone Park a Wonderful Bear Story.

WASHINGTON, August 12th.—Sunset Cox tells the following incident of his visit to Yellowstone Park:

"When Mrs. Cox and I were at an inn or stopping place for visitors in the Park, they told us of a big bear that came down every evening just before sunset to eat the swill that was thrown out to the hogs. The hog pen was about a mile back of the house in the woods, and this bear would come down every day to eat swill, and would go away contented without eating any of the hogs or little pigs. As he did not leave much food for them, perhaps they never got fat enough for his taste. While we were at dinner they told us that the girl who was waiting on the table had met the bear in a path near the pen. She was carrying a basket of clothes from the wash. She said she was not afraid, but I suppose she was a modest girl, for she dropped her clothes and ran.

"Mrs. Cox and I had suspicions that they were fooling us, but if there was a bear we wanted to see it.

"'When does it come down?' I asked. 'About 8 o'clock,' they replied.

"The sun doesn't go down until after 7 o'clock, so my wife and I sauntered out to the hogpen to see the bear. Sure enough we met him in the woods—a great big fellow. He gave a side glance at us and shuffled off as if he was about to run away. We were about twenty yards from him and quickened our pace to advance on him. He suddenly changed his mind about running, and we changed our minds also. He turned on us and growled.

"I remarked to Mrs. Cox that as she was getting fat and could not walk as fast as formerly, it would be just as well if she would turn back toward the hotel. Then I modestly followed. She could walk faster than I thought she could."

CORPORAL TANNER.

He Says He is Not a Candidate for Commander-in-Chief.

WASHINGTON, August 12th.—Commissioner of Pensions Tanner stated to-day that he was not a candidate for Commander-in-Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, and even if he was unanimously elected he would not accept.

"The fact is, I can't," he added. "I could not be Commissioner of Pensions and Grand Commander at the same time. The latter position requires a man to travel about a great deal. I am a poor man and there is no salary attached to the place, so I could not accept under any circumstances."

Mr. Tanner thought that either General Alger or Judge Veasey would be elected, and as it was probable that Alger would be offered a place in the Interstate Commerce Commission, he concluded that Mr. Veasey would be the coming man.

Official Report Received.

WASHINGTON, August 12th.—Secretary Windom having carefully considered the official report of the commander of the United States steamer Rush on the seizure of the Black Diamond, has come to the same conclusion as Acting Secretary Batcheller, that the contents should not be made public in view of the probability of trouble over the seizure. It is understood, though, that the report contains nothing that was not covered by the press dispatches at the time.

Agricultural Experiments.

WASHINGTON, August 12th.—First Comptroller Matthews has decided that the Agricultural Department can only use the $600,000 appropriated by Congress for experimental stations in thirty-eight States, the Territory of Dakota and District of Columbia. The Tomb of Buckle.

A traveler just arrived in London from Damascus gives some details about the present condition and surroundings of Buckle's grave. Though it was left so long after his death without a stone even to mark it, that it had become almost lost under a rank growth of thistles and coarse grass, the altar-tomb of marble and black basalt that was at length erected is now inclosed in a high wall with a padlocked gate. Next to Buckle's tomb are the tombs of two rather remarkable women. The first is that of the Countess Teleki, a daughter of Lord Langdale, who specially desired that her grave should be next to Buckle's, and the next is that of Lady Ellenborough, erected by her brother, Lord Digby, with an Arabic inscription from the Koran, placed upon it by her later husband, the Arab Sheikh, in singular proximity to the cross which forms part of the monument. On Buckle's tomb, also—on which, however there is no cross—there is an Arabic inscription suggested by the famous Emir Abd-el-Kader.

SOME STARTLING FIGURES.

Population a Century Hence—What is to be Done About it.

[From the Washington Star.]

S. L. Loomis predicted the result of the census of 1880 within 28,000 of the actual figures. He estimates that the population of the country in 1890 will reach 67,250,000, an increase during the past decade of more than 30 per cent. To allow a reasonable margin for possible error we may place the total at 67,000,000, and the decennial increase at 30 per cent. Should this ratio of increase continue, our population at the end of each decade during the next 100 years will be represented by the following figures, the progressive immensity of which will surprise most people and perhaps cause them to wonder:

WHAT THIS WORLD IS COMING TO.

1900	87,100,000	1950	320,393,290
1910	113,230,000	1960	416,513,277
1920	147,199,000	1970	541,467,250
1930	191,358,700	1980	703,907,425
1940	248,765,300	1990	915,079,642

People of a speculative turn of mind may well ask themselves what is to be done with so enormous a population; how are they to be supported, and many other questions that, though purely speculative now, may assume a vital importance before the close of the next century. The total area of the United States, including Alaska, is 3,580,242 square miles, or 2 291,354,880 acres. This area necessarily includes the lakes, rivers and uninhabitable mountains and deserts, yet we find that there will be an average of more than two and one-half persons to each acre of our total area when the enumerators enter upon their duties one hundred years hence. The exact figures are 2.504.

According to Mr. Loomis, the ratio of increase of population by births over deaths, although much less than it was a century since, is at present 2.01 per cent. per annum, or 20.1 each ten years. Accepting, for convenience, the ratio of decennial increase as 20 per cent., and casting aside all accretion from immigration, we find that in the year 1990 our total population will be more than 610,000,000.

Whether these figures are accepted as reasonably trustworthy or rejected as gross exaggeration, the fact still remains that the natural and inevitable increase of the population, not alone of our own country, but of the whole world, presents a problem that may well engage the thoughtful mind.

Trout that Remember.

"Some time before the death of Seth Green, the celebrated New York fish culturist and naturalist," said a Philadelphian who takes great interest in piscicultural matters, "I paid a visit with him to the fish hatchery of that State at Caledonia. In one of the ponds there at that time were 5,000 large brook trout, every one of which had been captured with the fly—tied on barbless hooks—in unfrequented brooks in the Adirondack region. These trout, Mr. Green said, had convinced him that fish have reasoning power and memory. When they were hooked and were reeled slowly in by the careful fishermen who were capturing them for the State pond, they had time and opportunity to note the form and character of the tackle that made them prisoners. According to Mr. Green, they never forgot that experience. The trout had been in the pond a long time, the females never being allowed to spawn there, and would follow Mr. Green as he walked along the edge of the water tossing bits of liver into it. To show that his theory about their memory and reason was correct, he would carry a cane and fish rod concealed behind his back. If he took the cane from its concealment and held it out over the water the fish paid no attention to it, but the moment he produced the rod with its reel and line attached away the trout scampered like a flash to distant parts of the pond. Mr. Green told me that he would permit anyone to cast a fly in that pond to his heart's content, as he was satisfied that not one of the trout would come near it, so vividly did they remember their enemy of five years ago."

IMPRESSIONS OF RUSSIA.

That false impressions obtain in this country, as well as in many others, concerning Russia, is undeniable. The recent work of the accomplished observer and critic, the Danish publicist, Brandes, will go far toward correcting popular error in this direction. Dr. Brandes is a very shrewd politician and critic, a keen observer, and a bold and charming writer. No one has more plainly, entertainingly or vigorously written of Russia. He assures us that the present condition in Russia

"Is neither the result of a stagnation for a thousand years, nor of a uniform progress toward the better, which has been too slow and much delayed, nor of a retrograde movement in culture uninterruptedly continued for a long time. It is the product of a reaction now twenty-five years old, constantly fortified anew by insurrections and attempts at assassination."

Concerning the Czar, he says there is no want of good-will and earnestness on his part. He declares that justice is done everywhere and in all circles, to his character. He declares that Alexander likes to see honorable and upright men about him, and that he was sincerely grieved, nay, angry, at the corruption and deceit that during the last Russo-Turkish war extended even to the highest officers of the army, and had so large a share in the unfavorable progress of the campaign. He is a man of honor; but not the great man and leader who is needed at this moment upon the throne of Russia, notwithstanding that it is a misfortune to any country to need a great ruler—but it is a greater misfortune for it not to have one when needed. Dr. Brandes declares that the present Emperor is a splendid example of virtuous life. He is the first Russian ruler for a century—indeed, the first of all, "who furnishes an example of an occupant of the throne of Russia, about whose relations to the other sex even evil tongues have not had the slightest thing to report. The men or the women who have occupied it have, from all time, been renowned for their erotic extravagances." Dr. Brandes declares that the changeableness—amounting to whimsicality often—of motive and action among the aristocratic class in Russia, is unparalleled by that of any nation. The examples he presents of this truth are not only numerous and romantic, but furnish the key-notes and suggest much of the material for dramatic sensational composition that will delight the novelist and playwright. The Court runs riot with frivolity about the most exemplary of Emperors, and is rife with irregularities that neither react upon the throne nor spring from it. We can understand much better, in the light this observer sheds upon Russian society and character, the reason that has inspired the Czar to severely punish Grand Duke Alexis, even condemning him to Siberia for a term, for his notoriously scandalous conduct and the defiant attitude he assumed toward the public in his illicit relations with the beautiful Countess Beauharnais. The recent telegraphic dispatches that attributed to the Czar political jealousy and anger in punishing Alexis, were probably incorrect, for according to Dr. Brandes, the Emperor is actuated in these matters by his abhorrence of criminality of relation between the princes and princesses of the royal and aristocratic circles. Within the royal family he at least can make his power felt, however impossible it may be for him to reform the entire aristocratic circle of Russia.

The review by Dr. Brandes of the political condition of Russia, of the intellectuality of the empire which has its seat in Poland, of the prison system that tarnishes nearly all that is commendable, ought to find a greatly wider reading among thinking people than it is likely to have in its present book form, though Mr. Eastman has presented the translation in an admirable manner. If newspapers would publish occasional chapters from Brandes' book of Russian observations, the general public would find them the most readable, often the most romantic and always most instructive and entertaining of matter, and a great deal of popular error concerning the largest nation of the earth would be dissipated.

A MATTER OF SPEED.

The San Francisco Bulletin in this age of "the possibility of the impossible," says:

According to a recent report, an inventor has constructed an electric motor that will draw a light train of cars at a maximum rate of three miles in a minute, or 180 miles an hour! Not quite so fast, if you please. It may be possible to construct an iron track over which a three-ton motor can be driven at that speed without destroying the track. But the heavy locomotive cannot safely do more than a mile a minute, and at that rate of speed is liable to batter the rails. The concussion is very great, especially if any wheel is a little out of true. As a matter of fact, the perfectly round wheel on any locomotive or car does not exist. A three-ton motor could not be driven on any railway yet constructed a the rate of three miles in a minute.

It is not known that our contemporary has the gift of prophecy, or that it has the future in its especial keeping. Its mechanical knowledge is certainly at fault. Mr. Weems, the inventor of the new motor, has not justified the assumption that the railroad track as we know it will be used in his system. Certainly a three-ton motor would not be adapted to the ordinary track, nor at a high rate of speed would it be likely to keep the line; or, if that could be secured, would it have sufficient traction to drag after it a train of small cars? Nor has it been given out that a track for wheels would be essential for the new motor. Not knowing what the inventor's line is to be, we can nevertheless conceive of propulsion upon a track without usual car wheels, the momentum being gained by the agency of electrical mechanism that may eliminate the blow of wheels upon the ends of rails, and also the tractive element altogether. A three-ton motor is a very small affair at best, and we can fancy machinery of that weight moving at marvelous speed within or between very slight grooves, or swung upon rails from which displacement will be next to impossible. We are disposed in this age of marvels, of scientific research and mechanical achievement, to accept trustfully the promise of almost anything regarding communication between distant points, and transportation of matter. It is entirely possible for the men of 1899 to be daily using small motors propelling vehicles of some order at the rate of 180 miles an hour, and for the intelligences of 1899 to be amused at the incredulity of such in 1889 as doubted the possibility promised in the matter of speed.

A NEWSPAPER quarrel is in progress in San Francisco over the question whether or not it is possible to bring Chinatown in that city within the operation of such disciplinary methods and sanitary regulations as are applied to other residents. It is held on the one hand that the agitation of the subject gives comfort to the friends of Chinese immigration and cripples the anti-Chinese crusade. On the other side it is contended that the fact that the Chinatown nuisance is not handled with vigor by the authorities turns public sentiment at the East against us in this matter of the exclusion of Chinese laborers. We are strongly inclined to believe that greatest strength resides in the position last indicated. We know as a matter of fact that at the East there is prevalent the belief that the Chinatown nuisances in California are not abated because we wish to use them as frightful examples of the results of the admission of the Chinese. We believe that there is not a city or town in the State that cannot enforce cleanliness, and that cannot require strict observance of sanitary laws on the part of the Chinese. We cannot afford to confess inability to do so. It may be a difficult task, but it certainly can be done, and that it is not is a reproach to the State and the coast. The attitude of the RECORD-UNION upon the question of Chinese exclusion is not susceptible of being misunderstood. For many years it has labored diligently to bring about restriction of the immigration of Chinese laborers, but it fails to see how, in any manner, a demand for the suppression of Chinatown nuisances can be construed into friendliness for the pro-Chinese sentiment, as seems to be the disposition in some quarters. Whether effectually excluded or not, in the present or the future, the regulation, according to usual sanitary laws, of the Chinese quarters of our cities and towns is possible and should be insisted upon. The interests of a certain class of property-owners will be affected in the region of the pocket nerve by enforcement of the laws and ordinances of the State and of cities in this matter of abating Chinatown nuisances, but opposition springing from such interests should only emphasize the necessity for executing the laws. If the American citizen should be required, as he is, to observe the sanitary ordinances, there can be no possible excuse advanced for failure to require similar observance from aliens residing in our midst.

IT IS quite evident that our Canadian bretheren have cooled considerably on the subject of retaliation for the seizure of the schooner Black Diamond. They have found by overhauling their works on international law, that the act of the Captain of the schooner in making the custodian of the boat a prisoner, was an offense for which the United States Government has the right to call upon the British Government to restore the schooner to its custodian. They are also discovering that the more the Behring Sea question is examined, the stronger grows the claim of the United States, that the waters are within our jurisdiction, and exclusively so.

THE case of the French Republic is a strong one as presented by the Procureur-General against Boulanger. The probabilities are that the Government will be able to prove its case, since it is inconceivable that it would permit its chief law counsel to present charges that it was not prepared to substantiate. The charge that he unlawfully used Government funds the prosecution will have most difficulty in sustaining, but the evidence is overwhelming that the ambition of Boulanger led him to aspire to a dictatorship, or at least to be Consul for life, and that he was careless of what became of France if he could but accomplish his personal ends.

STOCKTON has demonstrated that there is a plentiful supply of natural gas reservoirs in that section. Several wells have been sunk that are furnishing a satisfactory supply of this natural fuel and light material. The State Minerologist expresses to us the belief that the formation underlying the Sacramento section is like that into which the Stockton people have "bored." It would appear to be worth the while of enterprise to prospect for gas in this vicinity. The advantages of securing a supply are well known, and if it can be "struck" here, it will mean much economic industrial activity.

THE people who rented the cottage in which Dr. Cronin was murdered, to the stranger who called himself Williams have identified Burke, the Winnipeg suspect, as the man. This is the most direct testimony that has yet been adduced in the Cronin case indicating the identity of the murderers. As Burke was of the faction in the Clan-na-Gael that was antagonistic to Cronin and that was the champion of Alexander Sullivan, this identification very closely relates Sullivan and all of the faction sustaining his cause to the assassination of Cronin.

A HASTY EXIT.

Toughs Fall Over Each Other in a Mad Endeavor to Leave Truckee.

[Truckee Republican.]

The number of tough individuals who have left Truckee since last Saturday night is variously estimated from 75 to 200, but it is probable that the latter figure is too high, and that the total number of departures will not exceed 100. But for a town the size of Truckee the presence of 100 toughs is sufficient to be felt, and the sudden departure of the main number is an event to be welcomed. There were very few good-byes said, there were no affectionate farewells said nor heart-breaking leave-taking, no tears were shed and no blessings bestowed upon those who were about to go, never to return. When the 601 issued their edict it was a wild rush and a scramble to see who would get a favorable seat on the blind baggage car, or a comfortable position on a brake-beam. When the first passenger train came in there was a big crowd of vags who scrambled over each other trying to get on the train. The situation was laughable. Most of the exiled went west and the Sacramento papers report that that place is being filled with refugees from Truckee. It is not likely that many of them can stay in a place long but they will probably scatter in various directions.

The events of the past week show how brave some men are with their jaw, and how cowardly they are at heart. One blackleg from San Francisco declared that by ——, no man could make him leave Truckee. This was on Monday. He left on the first train Tuesday night. There were a number of such cases. On Wednesday most of the toughs had gone. By Thursday there was only a very few left, and as they showed a disposition to brave it out, there was a "committee" meeting and a personal notice was served on them and they promised to go. Jerry Sheridan refused to go, so yesterday he was arrested on a charge of vagrancy. He then began to realize his position, and when a friend told him confidentially that it was the intention of the citizens to take him from the jail and hang him, he turned pale and his knees rattled against each other, so great was his fright. He was given a chance to see a lawyer, and improved the opportunity to escape. The last seen of him was a small streak up the track. It is reported that there is yet two or three individuals in town who should be made to git, and it is likely that they will get their walking papers to-night. It is also reported that some of the Jibboom street women are hiding their pets. This will surely be investigated and the hiders as well as the hidden will be summarily dealt with.

Praise 601! Truckee is now once more respectable. The work was very neatly done and a great success has been achieved. The work now to be done consists in keeping done that which has been accomplished. These toughs must never return, nor must any of their kind be permitted to abide within the precincts of Truckee.

JAPANESE PHEASANTS.

Would They be a Desirable Acquisition to California Game Birds?

The State Board of Fish Commissioners will meet to-day in San Francisco, and among other things will probably take some action regarding the importation of Eastern and foreign game birds, as provided in an amendment to the game law adopted by the last Legislature. Pheasants are referred to as one of the species of birds that it has been thought would be a desirable acquisition to the game of the State. Before deciding to import any of these birds the Board should acquaint itself with all the facts possible concerning the habits of these birds. A few years ago they were introduced into Northern Oregon, and have multiplied rapidly. But, in proportion to their increase, the quails have decreased, until now it is said to be impossible to find a covey of quails in neighborhoods where they were plentiful before the advent of the pheasants.

Well informed and observant sportsmen of Northern Oregon declare that the pheasants have killed or driven off the quails in every locality where the former have made their appearance. The pheasant is a beautiful, but a very pugnacious bird, so much so that it is often crossed with the native game fowl to produce good fighters. Moreover, it is said to be a very unsatisfactory bird to hunt. It does not lie well to the dog, but depends largely upon its pedestrian powers to elude the sportsman and his dog; and, as no true sport can be had on upland game that will not lie to the dog, it is difficult to see wherein sportsmen would be benefited by exchanging the quail for the pheasant.

The San Francisco Call asserts that the members of the present Board of Fish Commissioners are none of them practical sportsmen—indeed, that they could not distinguish between the sexes of the trout family—and holds that men who are not well informed as to the habits of fishes and game cannot be efficient Commissioners. However this may be, it certainly behooves the Commissioners to make a thorough inquiry regarding the value of pheasants as game birds before deciding to bring them into the State. The last issue of the Breeder and Sportsman contains a number of letters on the subject from residents of Oregon, which might throw some light on the subject, as Oregon is the only part of the Union in which pheasants have been introduced.

PRESS ASSOCIATION.

Invitation from the National Association —Fruits Tendered for the Editors.

The Sub-Committee of the Executive Committee of the Central and Northern California Press Association, which is to meet in this city on the 9th of September, is in receipt of an official letter from the officers of the National Editorial Association, which assembles in Detroit on the 27th inst., cordially inviting the California Association to send a representative to the National body.

Henry Fisher, editor of the Vaca Valley Enterprise, writes to the committee saying that Vaca Valley proposes to send a generous supply of fruits in season, of that section, for the banquet of the association that meets here. The committee, without at all venturing to throw out a hint (which newspaper men never do), still ventures to ask this journal in giving this news, to say that Mr. Fisher's statement of the intention of the people of the fruitful Vale of Vaca is suggestive of the thought that such examples are worthy of emulation.

In this connection the committee requests that notice be given that those who expect to attend the session, but have not yet notified the committee, must do so prior to the 25th inst., if they expect to avail themselves of transportation privileges, and in order to enable the committee to arrange for their entertainment here.

RIFLE PRACTICE.

Scores Made by Companies G and B at the Annual Medal Competition.

On Sunday Companies G and B, of the First Artillery Regiment, shot over their 200-yard ranges near the city, for the new special State medals, awarded under the Act of the last Legislature providing for semi-annual practice shoots. The regular State medals will be shot for next month. The scores, while of a fair average, are not up to those made by the members in their ordinary weekly practice shoots, as the following figures show:

SUFFERING FOR WATER.

Short Crops in the Northern Counties, Because of a Drought.

The traveling correspondent of the RECORD UNION writes as follows from Etna, Siskiyou county, under date of the 9th:

In the upper end of Sierra valley there will be a half crop of wheat and oats and an average hay crop.

American valley will have a half crop of hay and grain and a good crop of apples.

Indian valley, Plumas county, will have a good crop of hay, but will fall short in the matter of grain from former years. The apple crop is good.

The Big Meadows' hay crop will not come up to that of last year.

Honey Lake valley will fall short in hay and grain, but the apple crop is good. Water has failed in many wells and springs, while, strange to say, water has sprung up in dry places, and some weak springs have been made strong with water of a milkish color. The people cannot account for it, unless by the frequent earthquakes in the last month.

Horse Lake valley, Lassen county, is a small valley of about three ranches. Shomeway Ranch, now belonging to Albert Galatin, will cut 250 tons of hay—hardly a half crop. Madeline plains, the upper end, will hardly have a half crop of hay.

On the South Fork of Pit river, in Modoc county, there is hardly a half crop, where they have irrigated. The failure of the hay crop and water, with no feed in the mountains, will be hard on stock and stockmen. Farmers will not have grain enough for seed for the next year.

Surprise valley is almost a failure.

In Goose Lake valley there is about the same. The outlook for these people is not good.

If we should have a hard winter crops in Big valley will be shorter than for many years. They have had less rain (and no snow in the mountains) than for many years.

Hot Springs valley will have about one-third of a crop. I stopped and took a look at these hot springs. I got three eggs, put them in my handkerchief, tied it the end of a stick and put the eggs in the middle of the spring. In five minutes I had hard-boiled eggs for lunch.

Fall River valley is dry enough to burn. The farmers there may have a half-crop. Many of these places I have mentioned will have to send below for their flour.

Shasta valley has not had such short crops for many years. The apple crop promised large, but owing to the failure of the water supply will not fill out.

Scott's valley is some better, but not so good as in former years.

The town of Yreka is almost without water. Many wells have gone dry, but the town will in a few weeks have plenty of water from a new water company. The weather is hot in the middle of the day, and the air filled with smoke. This is the first day the sun has shown clear for two weeks.

CITY TRUSTEES.

PROTESTS AGAINST THE OPENING OF CERTAIN THOROUGHFARES.

A Stone-Yard for Prison Labor—Old Sidewalks Condemned—Policemen's Salaries—Etc.

The City Trustees met in regular weekly session yesterday. Present—Mayor Gregory and Trustees McLaughlin and Wolfe.

The Water Works report showed that during the week there were pumped 44,481,250 gallons of water, the Holly pump working 113 hours, and the Stevens pump 147 hours.

A remonstrance was received from property-owners in the northeastern portion of the city against the opening of the streets and alleys between F and I, Twenty-sixth and Thirty-first streets, as heretofore petitioned for.

C. H. Todd appeared before the Board and argued in support of the remonstrance, claiming that there was no present necessity for the opening of the same, but if the Board of Trustees should determine otherwise, he, for one, would cheerfully acquiesce.

Mayor Gregory said that if it were shown that any necessity existed for the opening of those streets and alleys it would be done.

T. C. Churchman, one of the petitioners for the opening of the streets, claimed that the people who wanted to use those thoroughfares had the right to have them opened. People who owned property in that vicinity—if they believed the opening of those streets would enhance the value thereof—had the right to demand them opened. He claimed that the opposition to the petition came from persons who did not want to sell any of their property, and the opening of streets would increase their taxes.

After some further discussion, the Board decided to postpone action in the matter, and in the meantime to visit the locality in question and determine for themselves as to the necessity for opening the streets.

It was decided to advertise for bids for the construction of a fence in the rear of the City Jail to inclose a stone-breaking yard, the fence to be 173 feet one way by 120 another, and 14 feet high.

On the recommendation of Street Commissioner McLaughlin, the time for improving the alley between J and K, Sixth and Seventh streets, was extended sixty days.

An order was passed establishing the official grade of Seventeenth street from Q to R.

William Mulleney submitted a preliminary estimate of the cost of constructing a brick sewer on Seventeenth street, from R to T, the figure being $2,958 40.

An ordinance was passed, under suspension of the rules, relating to awnings, porches, etc. It provides that it shall be unlawful for any person to repair, add to or improve any awning or porch already erected over the sidewalks within the following limits: From the east side of Front to the west side of Twelfth street, and from the north side of I to the south side of L street, without permission of the Board of Trustees. The ordinance further prescribes that all awnings hereafter erected within the above district shall be by direct support from the building or buildings, and the outer edge must be thirteen feet above the sidewalk.

Fred. Kolliker appeared before the Board and complained that he was charged an exorbitant rate for water used in his business as druggist.

A couple of street-sprinkling contractors came in with a "kick" at the hours prescribed for sprinkling. They wanted permission to sprinkle certain outlying streets in the forenoon, claiming that they could not get sufficient water during the hours for irrigation (from 5 to 8 o'clock) to enable them to give satisfaction to property-owners.

Mayor Gregory announced that he had been served with an alternative writ of mandate from the Superior Court, in the case of L. W. Farrell against the city, requiring the Board to levy a special tax to raise money for the payment of the salaries of police officers.

The Clerk was instructed to advertise for proposals for the building of a brick wall in the City Cemetery at an estimated cost of $252. (The purpose is to grade a portion of the cemetery for a new plat.)

The Board condemned the remainder of the sidewalk on the south half of the block between J and K, Third and Fourth streets, which completes the condemnation of the sidewalk around that half block to the alley on Fourth street, by Megerle's store.

The matter of fixing the time in which the new sidewalk shall be constructed was referred to the Street Commissioner.

An order was also made condemning the sidewalk on the west side of Fifth street, from I to the alley.

The Sidewalk Inspector was instructed to have the inequalities in the sidewalk on the south side of J street, between Sixth and Seventh, corrected.

Charles Heisen presented a demand for the salary of a policeman, which he said he had advanced, purchasing the officer's demand for a warrant. He was told to wait and see how the case now before the Courts should terminate.

Street Commissioner McLaughlin moved that the City Engineer be instructed to employ a consulting engineer and to ascertain the facts relative to the difference in the grade of the sidewalks of Messrs. McNasser and Nottingham, on Tenth street, between L and M, and that said inequality be rectified.

It was so ordered, and after allowing a number of bills, the Board adjourned.

MAMIE KELLY'S WATCH.

Burglar Williams Tells How He Happened to Get Where It Was.

An alcoholic individual giving the name of Ed. Williams, and who is strongly suspected as being one of Truckee's exiled "four hundred," was examined in the Police Court yesterday on a charge of burglary.

Miss Mamie Kelly was sworn as a witness, and testified that on Saturday forenoon she went up to her bed-room to dress for lunch and was horrified to see a man in the room. He was in the act of pocketing a fine gold watch belonging to her when she interrupted him. She was frightened, of course, and ran screaming to the front door. Police officer Lowell happened to be in the neighborhood and hastened over to the Kelly residence, which is located on Sixth street, between H and I. He caught Williams in the bath-room, and also recovered the watch, which the intruder had hidden behind a bureau.

"What are you doing here?" was the officer's demand.

"Nuthin'," laconically replied Williams.

Despite this, however, Williams was locked up.

Officer Lowell corroborated Miss Kelly's statement on the witness stand, and added that, after bringing Williams to the prison the latter told him that he had been drunk and did not mean to take the watch.

The prisoner took the stand, and, in his own behalf, testified that he was "looking for a friend from the mountains," and in his intoxicated condition imagined that his friend lived in the Kelly residence. So be entered the place by means of the rear entrance. He did not remember of having touched any watch. He could not give any satisfactory information regarding the "friend from the mountains," and his story as a whole was of a "fishy" nature.

Judge Buckley considered it a proper case for the Superior Court to look after, and ordered Williams into the custody of the Sheriff to be held for such trial.

BITER BELL BITTEN.

He Starts a Row Himself, but Has Another Arrested for It.

Timothy Pennish and Samuel Bell were before Judge Buckley yesterday by virtue of counter charges of battery and disturbing the peace which they had filed against each other.

It seems that both men are plasterers, and had a row in front of Pennish's residence, a few days ago, over a bill for laths. Bell is an elderly man, while Pennish is much his junior. The row got somewhat animated and Pennish ordered Bell off his premises. The latter obeyed, but dared Pennish out into the street to fight. This did not have the desired effect, however, and the battle of words continued. Finally they got into close quarters again and Pennish knocked the old man down, set him up on his feet again and told him to run home.

A young man named McGrath, who lives in the neighborhood where the trouble occurred, detailed these facts, adding that Bell staggered about as though he was intoxicated.

"You say you heard me ask Pennish out to fight?" asked Bell of the witness.

"Yes, sir."

"Sure?"

"Yes."

"Positive, now—an old man like me, asking him out to fight?"

"I'm under oath, sir."

"Um. And you think I was drunk, too, do you?"

"I said you staggered and acted like it."

"Well, now, your Honor," said Bell, turning to the Court, "I'm going to subpena the hull city of Sacramento to testify that I was never seen drunk in the last eighteen years. That sets harder on me than anything else. I never—"

"Do you want to ask this witness any more questions?" interrupted Judge Buckley.

"Um, yes. So you thought I was drunk, eh?"

"Yes, sir."

"Are you positive that you saw him pick me up after knocking me down?"

"Yes, sir."

"Well," said the old man, shaking his head sadly, "I saw that, too."

A German lady told what she saw, and then Pennish and Bell gave their versions.

Judge Buckley had no doubt that Bell started all the trouble, and intimated that it was not a case to be brought into Court. Bell had Pennish arrested first, when it was himself that was the violator. The Judge then dismissed the charges of battery against each, but held Bell for disturbing the peace. Sentence will be pronounced to-day.

THEY MUST GO.

The Trustees Pass an Ordinance that Has Snap to It.

The City Trustees yesterday passed an ordinance prohibiting the improvement or repairing of any wooden awnings in the district bounded by Front and Twelfth, I and L streets. This is another step in the right direction, and its good results will soon become manifest. Much of the credit for the passage of such an ordinance is due to C. A. Luhrs, President of the Improvement Association, who has been untiring in his efforts in that direction.

Another good work done by the Trustees is the condemnation of certain dilapidated sidewalks. At the rate progress is being made in this direction, it will not be long until the sidewalks in a goodly portion of the business blocks will be largely of the patent stone or cement.

They Will Move Away.

Police officers Morelli and Chambers arrested the Cuneo family, consisting of husband, wife, a 17-year-old daughter, and a small child, for keeping a disorderly house. Mr. and Mrs. Cuneo, it appears, quarrel every day and twice on Sundays over who shall seek the hand of their daughter and the surrounding neighborhood gets very little sleep in consequence. The charges were dismissed in the Police Court yesterday, however, on the promise of the Cuneos to move away outside the city limits, or some place where their eruptions will not interfere with the peace and quiet of others.

How Barwick Accounts for It.

The highest and lowest Signal Service temperatures yesterday were 98° and 54°, with gentle southerly winds up to about 4 o'clock in the afternoon, when the wind veered to the north, traveling at the rate of about three miles per hour.

The highest and lowest temperature one year ago were 102° and 60°.

The highest and lowest one year ago today were 102° and 62°. Our maximum temperature is high at present, but the atmosphere, which absorbs three-fourths of the direct rays of the sun, has not yet reached the point of oppression that usually goes with such high heat.

Gymnasium for the New Club.

The committee selected at the last meeting of the new Sacramento Athletic Club, to select a building or hall for its gymnasium, visited various places within the last two or three days, but did not find a place suitable for the requirements of the club until yesterday. The east half of the old pavilion at the corner of Sixth and M streets was found to be just the thing, and a lease for it was drawn up and signed. The work of fitting it up will be taken up immediately and pushed as rapidly as possible. Everything looks favorable for the new club, and there is no doubt but that it will boom from the start.

Proficient in Billingsgate.

The irrepressible Mary Cook appeared before Judge Buckley again yesterday. Officer Ash hauled her in early in the morning for scattering choice billingsgate about Second and Third streets, and raising Cain generally. To this she pleaded guilty, but accused the arresting officer of having called her a vile name while en route to the station-house. This the officer strenuously denied. The Judge ordered Mary to appear before him this morning for sentence.

As Mary left she treated officer Ash to a charming twitch of her nose and a squint that riled him considerably.

Who Owns the Birds?

Just before daylight yesterday morning officers Simmons and Harvey encountered a Chinaman on Fifth street, between Q and R, with a suspicious-looking bag on his shoulders. They surrounded the Mongol, took him prisoner, and found that the bag was filled with toothsome spring chickens. The thief and his plunder are detained at the station-house, and an owner is wanted for the fowls, as the policemen say that chicken is too elevated a dish for them.

W. P. Merrill's Brave Act.

A little child, some four years old, was no doubt saved from a violent death or great injury yesterday through the nerve and presence of mind of W. P. Merrill. The child had been left alone in a phaeton, on P street, and the horse ran away. Merrill encountered the runaway and climbed into the vehicle, then out upon the shafts and upon the horse's back, bringing him to a standstill.

Sunday Night's Fire.

The fire that caused the alarm on Sunday night turns out to have been on the premises of William Curtis, on the lower Stockton road, a short distance beyond Oak Park. The property destroyed was a barn, in which was stored 200 tons of hay. The barn and hay were worth about $3,600. Mr. Curtis thinks the barn was set on fire.

The Angler's Dream.

There is a prospect that Sacramento anglers may, within another year, enjoy good trout fishing in the lower American river. The Fish Commissioners are expected to take some action to-day looking to the removal of the obstructions in the vicinity of Salmon Falls, so that trout may readily pass up and down the river.

From Divorce to Marriage.

In Department One of the Superior Court Annie Oswald was yesterday granted a divorce from Jacob Oswald, by default. An hour or so later the successful plaintiff appeared before Justice Henry, in company with Antone Sidler, and the couple were made man and wife.

Mercantile Failure.

John J. Trarbach, a clothing merchant, doing business for several years past on the northwest corner of Third and K streets, yesterday assigned to Sheriff McMullen. His liabilities are $26,000, but his assets could not be learned last evening. The creditors will be called together on the 21st, when they can choose their assignee.

Pleads Not Guilty.

Andy Woodson, the man charged with criminal assault upon a little girl near Brighton, not long since, was yesterday arraigned before Judge Armstrong and pleaded not guilty. The case was set for trial on the 13th. The prisoner will be defended by Charles N. Post.

Got Off Easily.

Alexander McDonald, the young man who brutally assaulted a fallen woman last week and was convicted of battery, was sentenced to pay a fine of $15 by Police Judge Buckley yesterday. He has the option of spending fifteen days in the County Jail.

TALKING THINGS UP.

MATTERS DEBATED BY THE IMPROVEMENT ASSOCIATION.

How Shall the Visiting Grangers be Entertained?—Sidewalk and Street Improvements—Etc.

The regular monthly meeting of the Executive Committee of the City and County Improvement Association was held last evening at Secretary Baker's office, President Luhrs in the chair. There were present, F. R. Dray, D. A. Lindley, John Batcher, E. Grunsky, S. C. Tryon, W. D. Comstock, O. W. Erlewine and R. H. Hawley.

President Luhrs, of the Awning and Sidewalks Committee, reported that he had labored hard with the Trustees in behalf of the passage of an ordinance prohibiting further repairs to wooden awnings, and was happy to say that the Board had passed such an ordinance.

A member of the committee called attention to the noxious odors that come from the refuse matter thrown out of the Capital Cannery, near the north levee. It was stated that when the north wind blows it is almost impossible for persons to live in that vicinity. The Committee on Garbage was notified to attend to the matter of causing the Health Officer to do his duty in the premises.

It was also stated that the ordinance regulating street signs was being quite generally ignored, and this also will be looked after.

The Secretary was instructed to notify the Levee Committee to give attention to the levees. This is the proper season of the year to make repairs, if any are needed.

President Luhrs spoke of the poor sprinkling service that the people received for the $16,000 expended during the season. He said that in some parts of the city the streets are so dusty that one cannot see a vehicle a block away.

Other members of the committee made similar complaints, and it was decided that all members of the committee should call upon the Trustees and urge that body to require the sprinkling contractors to live up strictly to their contracts.

President Luhrs thought that something ought to be done toward securing a driveway out of the city in some direction that would be good driving summer and winter. He believed that a road composed of bituminous rock would prove a good thing, and had no doubt the Supervisors and Trustees would aid an enterprise of this kind. He had asked for the figures per mile on a thirty-foot roadway.

E. L. Hawk of Placer county appeared before the Board and stated that he came on behalf of the Grangers of his county to ascertain what arrangements, if any, had been made for the entertainment of the members of the State Grange in this city in October next, and the National Grange in November. The Grangers of Placer county thought that an exhibit of fruits and other products should be made in this city during the sessions of the State Grange and the National Grange. There are several Sacramentans who are members of the Placer Granges, and they all desire that a committee be appointed by the Improvement Association to meet with the Grangers at Roseville, to see what could be done in the matter of getting up an exhibit.

F. R. Dray said that the State Grange had money voted with which to entertain the National Grange. He did not see what the Improvement Association could do in the matter, as it would be too expensive.

Mr. Lindley thought the Mayor of the city should call a meeting to see what could be done in the matter of entertaining the State Grange.

Mr. Erlewine thought that the citizens here were not called upon to entertain the State Grange any more than any other order that happens to meet here. It would be proper and desirable to get up as fine an exhibit as possible in the way of the products of this section, but that was as far as he thought the city should go.

Mr. Hawk thought it would pay to have a good exhibit here for the State Grange, and that would stimulate the latter to make the exhibit still more attractive for the National Grange.

Mr. Grunsky moved that the use of the Permanent Exposition building be tendered to the State Grange for the purpose of making an exhibit during its session, to be extended till the National Grange meeting. Also, that a committee of five be added to the standing Committee on Permanent Exhibits to confer with the Granges represented by Mr. Hawk, and to have charge of that matter.

The motion was carried, and the Chair appointed as said committee Messrs. Gregory, Erlewine, Grunsky, Lindley and Coleman.

Secretary Baker suggested that something should be done to cause the police to have the streets cleaned up, trees trimmed of their low-hanging branches and in general to have the city placed in proper condition for the reception of visitors from abroad.

It was decided to have the matter called to the attention of the city authorities.

The monthly report of Manager Medley of the Exposition Building was submitted. It showed that during the month 903 persons had visited the place. Applications had been filed by 115 persons, to date, soliciting employment, but no employers have applied for help.

After allowing the usual monthly bills the committee adjourned.

IT WAS SUICIDE.

So the Coroner's Jury Finds in Regard to John Henning's Death.

An inquest in the case of John A. Henning, one of the principals in Saturday's tragedy, was held last evening, Deputy Coroner George Clark conducted the proceedings.

Robert Goods, who was emphatic in his statements to a RECORD UNION reporter, on the evening of the tragedy, that he knew absolutely nothing of the affair—that he saw nothing and heard nothing—was called as a witness and gave important particulars, in the face of his former statement.

Goods testified that he is a special policeman. "Understanding that a shot had been fired on K street," he said, "I went down there (to No. 702), and went into the back room. There I saw a man lying upon the floor, and a woman sitting in a chair. A pistol was lying on the floor, near Henning's right hand. Shellars and some others were there when I got there. The woman muttered some words in Spanish to Shellars, and then told him to unloosen her corsets. While he was doing this she said: 'I am sorry I consented to have this done.'"

"Was Mr. Acock there before you?" asked a juryman.

"I didn't examine all the witnesses there," replied Goods.

"Didn't you have any conversation with him?"

"No, sir."

Goods was then excused, and Jose B. Costello was called. He stated that he was in Shellars' candy-store Saturday evening. Mrs. Shellars was there talking to a Mr. Austin. The latter went out and then Mr. Henning came in. He asked her if she was mad at him. She said no, and added that she did not want him to come around any more, because when he did, he insulted her. Then he said: "I am going to kill you and kill myself." She said: "I don't care," and sat down in a rocking-chair. Henning then drew his pistol and shot her. She didn't move. Henning then put the pistol to his head with his left hand and shot himself. "I then ran up to the saloon at Tenth and K streets," continued the witness, "and told Mr. Shellars. He was playing cards, and didn't believe me at first."

Charles L Stanfield was the next witness. "I was on the corner of Seventh and K streets," said he, "when I heard two shots from the candy store. I ran in and saw a man on the floor and a woman sitting in a chair. I turned the woman's head around to see if she was dead, and found that she was not. I then ran over to the Golden Eagle and telephoned for a police officer. I went back to the candy store then and some others were there. Some of them were giving her water; I told them to get whisky for her, and they did. The pistol was lying right near the chair in which she sat. It was fully six feet from Henning. She asked me three times if Henning was dead, and when I said 'yes,' she said 'poor fellow.'"

T. J. Regner stated that he was reading a paper in the back room of the saloon next door to the candy store, when he heard two shots. He ran into the candy store, and saw the man and woman in the positions as described by Stanfield. He differed from Goods, as the others did, regarding the place where the pistol lay, stating that it was nearer the woman. Mrs. Shellars asked him for a glass of water, and he got it for her. Shellars came in and asked her where she was hit. "In the back of the neck," was the reply. Shellars then got a fan and began fanning her.

John Scally testified that he was drinking with Henning shortly before the shooting, and was the last person with him before he entered the confectionery to do his deadly work. Henning also showed Scally his pistol in a saloon.

This concluded the testimony, and the matter was given to the jury. A verdict was soon rendered to the effect that Henning "came to his death from a pistol shot fired by himself with suicidal intent."

UNFORTUNATE TRUCKEE.

The Fire Fiend Again Blows His Blighting Breath Upon Her.

Rumors were flying about the street last evening that Truckee, the lively lumbering village just over the summit of the Sierra Nevada, on the line of the Central Pacific Railroad, was again in ashes. A gentleman stopping at the Western Hotel received a dispatch stating that forty-two buildings had been burned, including his livery stable, which, with the contents, he valued at $18,000.

It was afterward learned that the number of buildings burned was between thirty-five and forty, but the amount of losses could not be approximately estimated. Owing to the recent troubles there with tramps and lawless characters, the supposition here was, naturally enough, that the fire was of incendiary character but the RECORD-UNION has authentic information to the contrary.

The fire started in the residence of a railroad engineer named Dilley, and was the result of a defective chimney. When first seen the flames were bursting through the roof of the house. The wind was blowing from the west at the time, and the flames spread rapidly toward the east, destroying that half of the town.

Among the buildings destroyed were the new school-house, a fine structure but recently erected, the American Hotel and two churches. The telegraph office and lines were saved. It is believed that most of the property burned was tolerably well insured.

Truckee has been a singularly unfortunate town, as regards fire. Built, as it is, in a narrow canyon, the houses are necessarily huddled together compactly, and being mostly of pine, a fire is hard to extinguish when once start. Truckee has been several times burned, but each time rebuilt in better shape than before. Her citizens are certainly plucky and enterprising, and no doubt the effects of yesterday's calamity will shortly be effaced.

A CENTRAL POINT.

Sacramento Made the Dumping-Ground for Other Counties' Outcasts.

Sacramento is too convenient a center in some things. Every insane person, every pauper and every thug that some communities desire to get rid of is placed upon a railroad train with a ticket to Sacramento and here these creatures are dumped and left for citizens to provide for, either in hospitals or jails.

Yesterday morning a man presented himself at a wholesale liquor store and wanted to purchase two gallons of alcohol. On being asked what he wanted to do with it, he said a friend of his was hid out in the brush near town and covered with tar and feathers—a kind of apparel that the citizens of Truckee have lately been giving to those obliged to leave there on short notice. The man said his friend had been thus coated in Truckee on Sunday, given a ticket to Sacramento and run out of town. He wanted the alcohol to wash him off.

And so it goes. Hardly a day passes that some indigent, or invalid, or criminal is not run in here as the cheapest way to get rid of them. It is about time for Sacramento to organize a "move on" committee.

Since the above was put in type it has been learned that the tarred-and-feathered individual (one Fagan) recently honored Sacramento as his place of residence. He was driven out of here for drawing a pistol on Arthur Miller, of the Rhoads & Townsend House. When last heard of he was scraping the Truckee tar from his worthless carcass.

HOMES IN DISTRESS.

Little Lads Sent on an Errand Fail to Return to Their Homes.

Last night two anxious parents appeared at the City Prison in search of their lost boys. It appears that about 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon Mrs. Nichols, who resides at 1526 Second street, sent her seven-year-old son Frankie to a store to make a small purchase, and he secured the company of a playmate, Henry Schellinger, aged eight years, whose parents reside at 1526 Third street. The boys did not return, and late in the afternoon their parents set out to look for them. Learning nothing of the little wanderers, they finally visited the Station-house, thinking that perhaps the boys had got lost and had been taken there. But the police had no tidings of them.

The parents were sorely distressed last night, fearing that perhaps the children had gone to the river to swim and been drowned. There was one ground for the hope, however, that such a fate had not befallen them, and that was the fact that the boys have never been in the habit of going to the river. But the very fact that they have not been given to running away from home justifies the fear that something had happened to them.

Frankie Nichols wore a dark brown suit, with knee-pants, black stockings and a straw hat. His companion wore a white waist, short dark pants and canvas hat.

Hale and Hearty in Old Age.

What is more beautiful than an ancient tree clothed with an ample robe of verdure. Apt is the comparison between such a growth and an old man or woman infused with health and vigor. The sine qua non, the indispensable condition of vigorous youth, robust manhood and a virile old age, is sound digestion. Without this life is shorn of the hearty zest that should attend it. No more beneficent and agreeable contributor to the attainment of a hale old age, and efficient means of counteracting the infirmities that too often attend life's decline, can be found than Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Dyspeptic symptoms, a tendency to kidney complaint, nervous inquietude and rheumatic trouble are overcome by its use. The effect of exposure and overwork are nullified by it, and it affords efficient protection to all subjected to malarial influences. Give it a thorough trial.

NAPA FAIR.

One of the Best Openings of the Season—Splendid Racing.

NAPA, August 12th.—The second annual Solano and Napa District Fair began to-day and will continue for six days. The streets are crowded with strangers, and the town assumes a metropolitan appearance.

The woolen mills and the Sawyer Tanning Company shut down for a week to give the employes an opportunity to attend the races and enjoy the festivities.

Street fakirs, wheels of fortune, etc., add an interest to the scene.

Being one of the first district fairs of the season the racing horses are not worn out as usually happens at the end of a circuit. The entries of racers comprise 200 of the best race horses ever collected at one time at any fair yet held in the State. Three animals could be chosen from the lot for which $100,000 has been offered and refused.

About 800 head of live stock is exhibited for premiums. The track has been worked in fine condition. The weather is cool. The purses offered aggregate $11,000. Horsemen predict that the noted trotters will lower the wonderful records already achieved.

The races each day are changed, so as to keep up the interest throughout the week, but chief attention is centered in the contests of Thursday, when Gold Leaf and Almont Patchen, each having a record of 2:15, will contest in a pacing race.

Also on that day Sunol, Lilian Wilkes and Margarite, three-year-olds from the stable of Palo Alto, San Mateo and Pleasanton, respectively, will contest in the free-for-all. Sunol has a two-year-old record of 2:18.

On Thursday at the track a ladies' tournament will take place.

About 3,000 persons attended the races this afternoon.

The first race was a running free for all, three quarters of a mile and repeat. Entries: Mikado, Susie S. and Nabeau. Mikado won. Time, 1:15¼.

The second, the most interesting of the day, was a running race, mile and repeat. Entries: Wild Oats and Nerva. Nerva won the first heat by a neck in 1:42. Wild Oats won the second and third heats. Time, 1:40—1:47¼.

Third race, mile and a half dash. Entries: Alforta and Ed McGinnis; won by the latter in 2:41.

The display at the Pavilion in the Williams block is not yet all arranged. By tomorrow everything will be in position for a successful exhibition during the week. The space occupied by the exhibitors is twice as large as that used last year. An immense tent is erected in the rear of the hall, which is completely filled. M. M. Estee of the Hedgeside Vineyard and H. W. Crabb of the Talkolan Vineyard exhibit a large display of native wines.

The Sawyer Tanning Company occupies the corner of the main hall, displaying the products of their factory in all stages, showing fine buckskins, kid and patent leather; also, a large assortment of elegantly-colored Angora goat pelts.

The Napa Woolen Mills display a large assortment of flannels and blankets, and showing sample of blankets of which they are now making a thousand for the Folsom and San Quentin prisons.

James M. Thompson, of the Soscol Orchard, has one of the largest displays of fresh fruits.

W. Hunter exhibits farm wagons of his own manufacture.

Nearly five hundred paintings and drawings, the work of Napa artists, are exhibited in the art gallery.

The Napa Gelatine Factory displays glues and gelatines.

A large playing fountain in the center of the pavilion adds to its beauty.

NEVADA COUNTY TRAGEDY.

Two Men Meet Their Death and Two are Dangerously Wounded.

NEVADA CITY, August 12th.—At Spiller's saloon, near You Bet, last night, an Italian fatally shot one of his countrymen, also dangerously wounded William Shea and Samuel Hodge. The shooter was beaten so that it is thought he will die. Hodge was brought to the County Hospital, and Shea to his home in Grass Valley. The Sheriff has just left for You Bet.

FURTHER PARTICULARS.

GRASS VALLEY, August 12th.—A sickening tragedy occurred Sunday night near You Bet Station, on the narrow gauge railroad, between half a dozen employes on the lumber railway being constructed by Charles W. Kitts, of this city, and the proprietor of a wayside joint named Rudolph Spiller.

The shooting was heard at 10 o'clock, and Mr. Kitts, who was in camp, was summoned in the tavern. When he reached the place all was quiet, and receiving no answer to calls, the front door was forced. Here, in a drunken stupor, were found three men, named McLean, Rourke and William Shea. All were bruised and battered and a charge of buckshot had taken effect in Shea's right hip, making a wound into which the fingers of a hand could be placed. Shea will, no doubt, die.

In the bedroom were found Samuel Hodge, with a hole in his throat made by some bullet or pointed instrument, and a Swiss-Italian. The latter is badly bruised and cut about the head. Hodge may recover. The marks in the road gave evidence of a terrible struggle, and two rods from the house the body of an Italian, who had evidently been trampled to death, was found. The dead man's head was a horrible sight. His nose was broken, mouth jammed in, the neck discolored, etc. Spiller cannot be found. It is said that he told a man that he did the shooting. It is also reported that Spiller was stabbed. A smooth-bore musket was found in the bedroom. Hodge and Shea have been taken to the County Hospital. The Coroner has gone to the scene.

LATER.—The murdered man's name is Augustine Pizzai. The other Italian's name is Gussepi Cerini. The latter shot Hodge in self-defense. Spiller, but while he, Hodge and others, were breaking into his house to complete the killing of Cerini. The men were all laborers employed on the railroad. It is not known what caused the affray.

BAD MAN KILLED.

An Old Citizen Kills an Ex-Convict Who is said to Have Been a Bad Man.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, August 12th.—About midnight Sunday William S. Humphreys, an old and respected citizen, arrived from Josephine and surrendered to the Sheriff for having killed that day James Bushton, alleging self-defense. Both were in the fields and Bushton threatened to kill Humphreys, who quickly fired with fatal results. Bushton was recently released from the State Prison. He was first sentenced to death for the murder of one Hodges in Monterey, but his sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life, and then again to twenty years. He served his time. He was 45 years old, an Australian, and boasted of being a bad man. William Bushton's brother is now in prison for the murder of Luis Cupis, and was recently granted a new trial.

ANOTHER ACCOUNT.

PASO ROBLES, August 12th.—Yesterday at 1 o'clock at Josephine, eighteen miles south of this place, William Sloan Humphreys shot James Bushton in the face with a shot-gun, killing him instantly. Bushton had entered a tract of land claimed by Humphreys, out of which the trouble grew. Bushton has recently served a term in the Penitentiary, having killed a man. He also has a brother now serving a term for murder. It is claimed that Humphreys had no cause for the shooting, as Bushton was quietly sitting on a fence at the time.

PALERMO VILLA HOTEL.

It was Destroyed Yesterday by Fire—Loss About $20,000.

PALERMO, August 12th.—At 10:45 o'clock last night a fire was started in the men's sleeping apartment, adjoining the Palermo Villa Hotel. The building being a frame one and very dry the flames spread rapidly, and soon the hotel was one mass of flames. It burned with astonishing rapidity, for in twenty minutes nothing remained but a piles of ashes. The hose was immediately got out, but with no hope of saving the hotel. Water was applied to the office of the Palermo Land and Water Company and the store of J. E Schram, opposite the hotel, and by the herculean efforts of the citizens this building escaped. Little or nothing was saved. Many lost all their personal effects. Some workingmen barely escaped with their lives. The loss is about $20,000, partially insured.

[Colonel Ludlum, the resident agent at Palermo, wired substantially the same facts regarding the fire as given above to the owners in San Francisco. The building, he said, "burned like resin." Few things besides two empty trunks belonging to Ben Taylor, Mr. Hearst's agent, and a mirror that Fred Davis of the Palace Hotel carried out, were saved. There was an abundant water supply at the building, but evidently there was too much excitement to make it of value. The hotel, which was about half covered by insurance, will be immediately rebuilt.]

VINDICTIVE DISTRICT ATTORNEY.

He Has a Justice of the Peace Arrested for Ten Cents.

MERCED, August 12th.—Justice of the Peace Jones was arrested to-day charged with embezzling county money. The facts are as follows: Constable Leggett was arrested by Jones and he paid him $6. He paid Leggett $2 90, retained his fee of $3, and failed to pay in the balance within the lawful time, and was arrested on complaint of District Attorney Breckenridge. Jones was taken before City Recorder Robinson and admitted to bail in $250 pending his examination.

The people of the county are very much excited, as they think something is wrong here. A few weeks ago Breckenridge had several men arrested on a charge of keeping houses of ill fame, and one had him arrested for visiting his house. He was taken before Jones, and he asked for a change of venue. This was denied. He then had Jones taken before the Superior Court on a writ of mandate, and Jones was ordered to grant the change of venue. Breckenridge then had Jones arrested on the aforesaid charge.

POWDER COMBINATION.

One of the Strongest on Record—Advanced Five Cents Per Pound.

SAN FRANCISCO, August 12 h.—An evening paper publishes the statement that a compact has been signed by the representatives of the California Powder Company, the Giant Powder, California Vigorite Company, and Safety Nitro Powder Company, to control the powder market. The compact is for five years. It is stated that these four companies have also entered into a combination with all the Eastern and Western companies in the United States, and also with all the dynamite manufacturing companies in Europe, regulating the prices of all the foreign trade. The number of companies thus interested is over one hundred, and the combination is said to be the most gigantic on record. Prices have been advanced five cents per pound, to take effect immediately.
